All electrochemical immunosensor for rapid detection of staphylococcal enterotoxin C (SEC) using magnetic beads (MB) was developed. The SEC detection is based on the principle of sandwich-type immunoassay, where a SEC monoclonal antibody (McAb) was immobilized on the gold electrochemical signal amplification. The MB-SEC McAb probe was introduced into the sandwich immunosensor for electrochemical signal amplification. The electrochemical signal amplification immunosensor estibuted and excellent response to SEC in the range of 0.1-2.0 ng mL(-1) and the detection limit was 0.08 ng mL(-1). The biosensor were in the range of 91-105%. Tens of thousands of college students, current and soon to be graduating, have written to their legislators with the power of their "big voices." Have students articulated their views about the future of our country and our children? No, of course not! It's time for us to remember that the average student signal amplific. One of the biggest problems for college students today is a lack 3da54e8ca3
