By all accounts, he's a former ACB officer (the former anti-terrorist wing of the Delhi Police) and an important player in the Delhi gangrape case. I spoke to an Ashwani Singh several months ago, and, based on his account, the Delhi gangrape case revolved around the penetration of the (full stop) Delhi-NCR's culture by the (full stop) northeast. The more, he told me, rape in India was not about sex but a challenge to the city's rules, an attack on the urban order, followed by the ultimate punishment. The Delhi gangrape's timing, he explained, was a premeditated political act. Among other things, he told me that he comes from Uttar Pradesh and was a follower of the late Syed Pasha who, he says, is 'the spiritual guru of UP' (an 'appointee' of the late Indira Gandhi who the poet Javed Akhtar famously called a 'PM of not-so-good dreams'.) The Delhi gangrape is not just about sex. That only a fool can believe. It's about upending the urban order, putting challenges to the power, and so on. A third theory given by me and others about the Delhi gangrape is that of the'male jury'. In a country like India, where feminine lives are defined by their relationships with men, men's lives are defined by their relationships with other men. So a gangrape is not just a gangrape. It's a reason for all men to take a stand for what has been lost, which is the Indian nation. Women's rights, India's 0cc13bf012

This report describes preliminary studies on the use of fluorine-19 nuclear magnetic resonance spectroscopy for evaluating the metabolic status of human tumors. Fluorine-19 spectroscopy appears to provide a sensitive method for monitoring small changes in glucose metabolism in vivo. High signal-to-noise ratios were readily obtained with relatively small samples of tumor and with broad band NMR equipment. Five solid tumors were studied: 2 adenocarcinomas, 2 neuroblastomas, and 1 rhabdomyosarcoma. Fluorine-19 spectra of these 5 tumors were compared with spectra of 2 normal appearing tissues adjacent to the tumors, 2 normal subjects, and 1 acute myelogenous leukemia patient. There was no significant difference between any of the spectra except in the case of an acute myelogenous leukemia patient. Although changes in glucose metabolism have been correlated with malignancy, the present results suggest that the metabolic changes in these 5 solid tumors are not yet sufficient to produce a detectable signal in the fluorine-19 spectra.Innovation is the key to building the most efficient and effective aid systems and policies In a world where 1.4 billion people are undernourished and tens of millions of people die every year from preventable or treatable diseases, the global health community cannot afford to be complacent. The way we fight for and govern health in the coming decades must be different from what we did in the past, and the institutions that govern us must be transformed to adapt. We must do more than give vaccines, children's pills and mosquito nets: we must create new knowledge and value in health systems in the same way that industrial companies produce their products. The time to act is now. We are at a unique point in human history where the cost of a good education, access to information, and the widespread growth of middle class incomes have reduced the barriers to public health. The right
