Descargarlo Gratis en iPodLink de Podcast My Favorite Video.Monday, November 11, 2010 Weaving some new experiences into my life has been an interesting thing. I feel like I never really knew what it would feel like until just recently. First time I went to my OB-GYN's office it felt odd. I didn't expect how big the office would be, or how behind the waiting room would be. When I walked in I was asked to take off my coat and shoes. I sat in a waiting room for a few minutes before meeting with my doctor. While I waited, I would look out the window, and see not just the sidewalk, but also people walking and driving by. It was really interesting to observe them, to notice the things they were doing, or the objects they were holding. Next time I went to see my doctor was when I was 12 weeks pregnant with my daughter. I still remember that day. I had been getting chills a few days before, and knew something was going to happen to that day. I spent the time between my husband and I getting some boy haircuts for our upcoming trip to New York (we were going to an Urban Outfitters party with a few other people). I went to the pharmacy to get some blue liner for my eyeliner...and bought some baby shampoo...because what else would I buy? That's when my doctor told me I was having a baby girl. I was so excited
