Here the devotees shout slogans of welcome, say their prayers and then proceed to offer their prayers. Agni Kanda Karnan says his prayers at the birthplace of Lord Rama, Ayodhya. Then he takes a ritual bath and washes the ash of the candle sticks (tali) by the hands of the priests. He has to avoid eye contact with the women and the children present in the audience. I saw him standing still when Prasadam was offered. The devotees took out the fruits and ate them in front of Agni Kanda Karnan. It feels odd to see him being offered something that he will take and eat. After the worship the devotees proceed towards the road to see if the conveyance is there to take him home. Agni Kanda Karnan performs the mythological tale of Queen Satarupa, a primeval one. The Sheikhs present in the audience say " Aagam Vastra" (thrust the thorns) with folded hands. Meanwhile, we can see the sadness in the eyes of Agni Kanda Karnan Agni Kanda Karnan is a powerful person who possesses supernatural powers. He has the body of a human being and the head of an elephant. He possesses two sets of eyes, one of which is human, and the other is that of an elephant. His body is very strong and is capable of doing thousand of things at the same time. He is a great preacher, well versed in Sanskrit, and can speak to the people with his well read speeches in Sanskrit. Agni Kanda Karnan performs another mythological tale. Even after being an elephant, he still has the body of a human being. The myth of Chilrajan- the king of elephants and Rama's wife Sita- is narrated.
